

The circle of my Michigan Football fandom

One day later: I'd rather lose with Harbaugh than win with Zach Smith

Dec: FIRE HARBAUGH!
Everyone else is beating OSU, why cant we?

Q4: fuck. Hitting the gym

Q3: if I just keep yelling at this Tsunami, then the flood gates might not open

Start of CU game: can win if we throw to Nico every play and sack the QB every play
Q2: uh oh Trying to keep it close

Oct: Yelling at the coaching staff because I'm smarter than them

Sept: log onto Mgloblog to argue whether we beat patsies by enough.

Got teased that something bad might happen to OSU, jk their new players are better than their old players and the NCAA will give OSU anything they ask for

May: Bench Mason crushing everything

Apr: tons of sleepers are getting noticed and might contribute this year

Jan-Feb: hyped about 3* and 4* recruits, try not to look at OSU's class

Dec-Jan: lose bowl game, doesn't matter, half the team sat out anyways

Two days later: Maybe the bowl game will be a good showcase for recruits and spring us into 2020

